Zameck Vesnice

Sacrarium Nemoris

(Military)

The Church of the Forest is a cruciform cathedral of soaring trees, over one hundred and fifty feet tall, magically shaped and blended into walls, arches, and facades. Dedicated to St. Hubert, the interior floor of the church is of more traditional wooden construction, with wooden pews and a carved oaken altar. Carved wooden triptychs and hanging panels depict scenes from the life of St. Hubert and the Bible, all invoking a spirit of wonder at the Creation. Behind the altar, an enormous brass crucifix rises from the floor beneath the crossing. It is unadorned in any way, but its magnificent workmanship is evident. Within the church, no rain ever falls, nor is the interior ever cold or drafty. The trees and plants that make up the church are always green and fresh, even in the depths of winter.
